HARDING IN ADDRESS TO SENATE ASKS THAT SOLDIER BONUS BILL BE DEFERRED

DISARMAMENT PROBLEM TOUCHES THE WHOLE REALM OF WORLD PEACE

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1921, by Times Pub. Co.)
WASHINGTON, July 12.—Diplomacy moves in strange ways its wonders to perform, and the various steps that have led up to the calling at last of a disarmament conference of the nations known as the principal allied and associated powers are a peculiar mixture of sensitiveness on the one hand and hesitancy on the other to assume responsibility for the success of admittedly one of the most difficult international problems of modern times. Great Britain has from the start wanted a disarmament conference as a means of reducing her tax expense, but on the one hand she was faced with an element that looks askance at the mere mention of reducing the size of the British navy and on the other hand the British government found itself more or less bound to go along with Japan because of the delicate matters involved in the Anglo-Japanese alliance. A proposal by England would have been seconded by Japan.

106 In The Shade
JANESVILLE, Wis., July 12.—Record temperatures yesterday in Rock County, Wisconsin, reaching 106 degrees in the shade at Footville, forced many farmers to stop work in the field.

MANY KILLED WHEN WALLS COLLAPSE

DAX, FRANCE, July 12.—Many persons were buried by a falling wall during a fire today which destroyed a mercantile establishment here owned by Senator Milles-Lacroix. Heavy bodies had been taken from the debris up to a late hour this afternoon.

Independent Steel Firm Cuts Wages

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 12.—The Sharon Steel Corp. today took the lead among independent steel companies of the Youngstown district in announcing a further wage reduction, expected for some time. The new cut makes the wage for common labor 30 cents an hour, with no overtime. It is effective July 16, the date when the Bethlehem Steel Co.'s reduction to 27 cents takes effect, and also when the United States Steel Corp.'s elimination of overtime becomes effective. Announcement from other independent companies are expected before the day is over. At the offices of the Republic Iron and Steel Co. and the Brier Hill Steel Co. it was said that an announcement would probably be forthcoming during the day, while at the offices of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. it was said that no announcement would be made today in the absence of President James Campbell.

Notices of the wage reduction were posted today by the Sharon Steel Corp. at its plants here and in Sharon, Pa. The independent steel companies of this district employ upwards of 40,000 men. The labor rate of 30 cents an hour compares with the peak rate during the war of 47 cents an hour, with time and a half for work over eight hours. Before the war the rate for common labor was 19 cents. The daily wage for a 12 hour day at the time of the highest wages amounted to $6.38. Under the new rate the daily wage for a 12 hour day will be $3.60 a day, but as the mills are working on an eight hour basis during the present depression, laborers will be making $2.40 a day until the 12 hour day is again adopted.

FABODIE IS NAMED
CINCINNATI, O., July 12.—William H. Fabodie, governor of the Society of Mayflower Descendants of Ohio, was nominated to be deputy governor of the general society at a meeting of the Ohio organization here last night. Mr. Fabodie recently retired from the Cincinnati school after a teaching service of more than sixty years. Mrs. J. R. Murdoch, Jacob E. Cox, Cleveland, and Mrs. Samuel Pogue, Cincinnati, were named as delegates to the ninth annual conference of the general society at Plymouth, Massachusetts, in September.

OPERATION NECESSARY
YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 12.—A serious operation may be necessary to save the life of Mrs. Mary Harvey, who was shot in the abdomen by her four year old son last night. It was said at the hospital today. The boy picked up his father's revolver, inserted a cartridge and playfully pointed the weapon at his mother as she was leaning over a crib with a baby in her arms.

Irish Leaders Leave Dublin For London Conference

Eamon DeValera

Premier Lloyd George

Sir Horace Plunkett

Lawrence O'Neill

DUBLIN, July 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Irish republican leaders chosen to participate in the conference to be held with British government authorities in London on Thursday, left Dublin this morning for London. They were Eamon DeValera, leader of the Irish republicans; Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein; Austin Stack and Robert C. Barton, the last two being Sinn Fein members of the British parliament. The delegates were accompanied by Lawrence O'Neill, lord mayor of Dublin, who recently visited America, and by Count Plunkett.

Fear Situation In Belfast
LONDON, July 12.—Satisfaction felt by the people of England over the arrangement of a meeting on Thursday between Eamon DeValera, Irish republican leader, and Prime Minister Lloyd George, was tempered by apprehension today over the situation in Belfast. The rioting which began in that city on Sunday continued yesterday with diminished severity, and while there were acts of violence yesterday forenoon in various parts of Ireland, the center of apprehension was in Belfast.

It was felt that today might be critical, as it was "Orange" day, long celebrated as the anniversary of the battle of the Boyne, fought in July, 1690. There were fears that extremists on both sides in Ireland could not be held in restraint by their leaders, and would violate the truce which became effective yesterday noon.

Greeks Advance 15 Miles In New Drive

ATHENS, July 12.—Official confirmation of the beginning of the Greek offensive against the Turkish Nationalists was supplied in a government statement late last night. This announced a preliminary movement in the operation.

The Greeks, said the statement, advanced 15 miles, occupying the towns of Yeni-Shehr and Hassan-Pasha, east of Bursa, and Jenikoy, north of Ushak. No resistance was encountered by the Greeks in this advance.

Supreme Council To Meet
PARIS, July 12.—(By the Associated Press)—The allied supreme council, probably will meet toward the end of this month, either in Boulogne or in Paris, it was announced by the French foreign office this morning. The Upper Silesia question will be uppermost in the discussions and it is expected Great Britain will bring up the question of the evacuation of Dueseldorf, Duisburg and Ruhrort as a recognition of the disposition of the present German government to carry out the terms of the Versailles treaty.

FRENCH ARE PLEASED WITH U. S. PROPOSAL

PARIS, July 12.—(By the Associated Press)—The French government will accept with pleasure and without reserve the invitation to a conference on the limitation of armaments. This is stated in a letter sent to the American embassy here by the government this morning, for President Harding. Premier Briand later announced publicly in the chamber of deputies that the government would eagerly accept such an invitation. The premier expressed thanks to President Harding for "this noble initiative," while the chamber broke into cheers. Sheldon Whitehouse, counselor of the American embassy, said this afternoon that the reply of the French government had been cabled to Washington during the morning. There was as yet no indication, he said, when the formal invitation would be presented to France.

STABILITY OF FINANCES AT STAKE, HE SAYS

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Emmett at the present moment of adjusted compensation legislation for veterans of the world war would "greatly imperil the financial stability of our country," President Harding told the senate today in the second address he has made to that body during his administration.

Every obligation is to the disabled and dependent, the president said, and the executive branch owed it to the country "frankly to state the difficulties we daily are called upon to meet, and the added peril this measure would bring."

"This menacing effort to expend billions in gratuities will imperil our capacity to discharge our first obligations to those we must not fail to aid," he said.

"Our land has its share of the financial chaos and industrial depression of the world," the president said. "We little heeded the growth of indebtedness or the limits of expenditure during the war because we could not stop to count the cost. Our one thought then was the winning of the war and the survival of the nation."

The Things Essential
After a four months' survey of conditions, "which would stagger all of us were it not for our abiding faith in America," the president said, he was fully persuaded that three things were essential to restoration. "These are," he continued, "the revision, including reduction, of our internal taxation, the refunding of our war debt, and the adjustment of our foreign loans."

Would Call For Billions
"The precise figures no one can give," he said. "If it is conceivably true that only two hundred millions a year will be drawn annually from the treasury in the few years immediately before us, the bestowal is too inconsequential to be of real value to the nation's defenders; and, if the exercise of the option should call for cash running into billions, the depression of finance, and industry would be so marked that vastly more harm that good would attend."

Promises To Cut Expenses
"I can make you no definite promise in figures today," he said, "but I can pledge you a most conscientious drive to reduce government cost by many millions. It would be most discouraging to those who are bending their energies to save millions to have congress add billions to our burdens at the very beginning."

"Even were there not the threatened paralysis of our treasury, with its fatal reflexes on all our activities," (Continued on Page Six)

Text Of Address

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Following is the full text of President Harding's address to the senate. Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Senate: There has come to my attention the pending unfinished business before the senate and it is an imperative duty to convey to you the probable effect of the passage at this time of the proposed act, providing for adjusted compensation to our service men in the world war. If this measure could be made effective at the present time without disaster to the nation's finances and without hindrance to imperative readjustment of our taxes it would present an entirely different question than that which is before you. In a personal as well as a public manner, which ought to be a plight of good faith, I have commended the policy of generous treatment of the nation's defenders, not as a part of any contract, not as the payment of a debt which is owing, but as a mark of the nation's gratitude. Every obligation is to the disabled and dependent. In such reference as has been made to general compensation there has been a reservation as to the earliest consistent time for such action if it is taken. Even without such reservation, however, a modified view would be wholly justifiable at the present moment, because the enactment of the compensation bill in the midst of the struggle for readjustment and restoration would hinder every effort and greatly imperil the financial stability of our country. More, this menacing effort to expend billions in gratuities will imperil our capacity to discharge our first obligations to those we must not fail to aid.

with little thought of a settlement. It was relatively easy then, because national life was at stake. In the sober aftermath we face the order of reason, rather than act amid the passions of war, and our own land and the world are facing problems never solved before. There can be no solution unless we face the grim truths and seek to solve them in resolute devotion to duty. After a survey of more than four months contemplating conditions, which would stagger all of us were it not for our abiding faith in America, I am fully persuaded that three things are essential to the very beginning of the restored order of things. These are the revision, including reduction of our internal taxation, the refunding of our war debt, and the adjustment of our foreign loans. It is vitally necessary to settle these problems before adding to our treasury any such burden as is contemplated in the pending bill.

Must Reduce Taxes
It is unthinkable to expect a business revival and the resumption of the normal ways of peace while maintaining the excessive taxes of war. It is quite as unthinkable to reduce our tax burdens while committing our treasury to additional obligations.

New State Cabinet Meets

COLUMBUS, O., July 12.—The new state cabinet held another meeting today behind closed doors, with Director of Finance Floyd E. Waite presiding in the absence of Governor Davis. No announcement was made concerning the discussion at the meeting. R. E. Miles, director of the state institute of public efficiency, was present, but gave out no statement as the reason for his being there.

DEFENSE ATTACKS STATE CHARGE OF POISONING

CLEVELAND, O., July 12.—The state's contention that Eva Catherine Kaber attempted to kill her husband, Daniel F. Kaber, by poisoning, was attacked by the defense today as an initial effort to discredit the state's case. The first witness called by the defense was Roy A. Daniels, the undertaker, who prepared Mr. Kaber's body for burial. He told of the autopsy conducted at the county morgue at which all the internal organs were removed.

Grey May Represent Britain At Disarmament Parley

LONDON, July 12.—Viscount Grey, of Fallodon, who was British secretary of state for foreign affairs, when the world war began, may, says the Daily Mail, lead Great Britain's delegates to the disarmament conference to be held in Washington as a result of President Harding's proposal to the allied nations. The newspaper declares that a statesman at least of the type of Viscount Grey should be chosen and that he should act with experts from the dominions at the conference.

Pawn Brokers Would Elevate The Profession

COLUMBUS, O., July 12.—Representatives of pawn brokers in all sections of Ohio are meeting here today to make plans in an effort to "elevate the profession." Also the pawn brokers will map out means whereby they can co-operate to the fullest extent with the state in the administering of the DeWesse law, licensing pawn brokers, regulating their interest rates and legalizing their business.

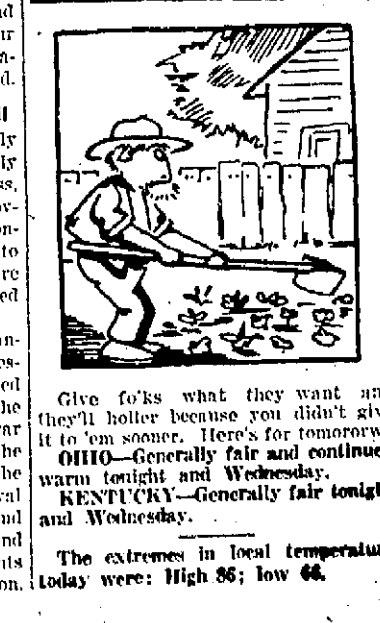

Drink More Milk, Urged

COLUMBUS, O., July 12.—Representatives of the Ohio State University, the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and other civic and state organizations met here today to discuss plans along educational lines for furthering the consumption of milk. It is expected that campaigns will be instituted in different sections of the state and in all the cities, following the session, in an effort to show that milk, in its different forms is a food worthy of more attention than it is now receiving.

It was one degree cooler today than Monday, the maximum temperature today being 88, against 89 yesterday. The heavy shower, which visited this section yesterday sent the mercury down 17 degrees.

Will Face Assault Charge

Robert Blevins, 29 years old, steelworker living in the vicinity of Second and Jefferson streets, was taken into custody Monday night by the police on a formal charge of assault and battery upon William Bishop, well known West End character.
According to the officers, Bishop was given a severe pummeling and by reason of being unable to appear in Municipal court Tuesday the case against Blevins was continued until later. He is out on bond.
Blevins claimed that Bishop was drunk and was guilty of misconduct in the presence of Mrs. Blevins.

Death Calls Rev. Kemper

CINCINNATI, July 12.—Rev. Herman Kemper, 78 years old, one of the oldest prelates in the Cincinnati diocese, died yesterday afternoon at St. Clare's convent, Hartwell, where for the last 12 years he has been chaplain. Father Kemper was ordained at St. Mary's Seminary, Cincinnati, 55 years ago.
Shortly after leaving the seminary Father Kemper became assistant pastor at St. Augustin's Church. Two years later he was transferred and became assistant pastor at Sacred Heart church, where he remained five years. In 1873 he was appointed pastor of St. Philomena's church, East Pearl street, and served in that capacity for 26 years. On account of failing health in 1900 he was forced to give up the pastorate and become chaplain at St. Clare's Convent.

EVANGELICAL LEAGUE CONVENES TONIGHT

Arrangements Made To Entertain Many Delegates

A large number of delegates from the northern part of Ohio are expected to arrive here tonight on N. & W. train No. 32 to attend the opening session of the eighteenth annual session of the Evangelical League of Ohio and the first Sunday School convention of the Ohio District of the Evangelical church which convenes tonight at nine o'clock at the First Evangelical church.

The delegates will be met at the train by automobiles and from there they will be taken to the First Evangelical church basement where supper will be served.

The opening program calls for an address of welcome by the local President Henry Hensge and responses on behalf of the League and Sunday Schools.

Over 100 delegates are expected for the convention which lasts until Thursday evening, with three sessions being held Wednesday and Thursday. The entertainment features arranged for the visitors include an automobile ride Wednesday afternoon and a boat ride Thursday afternoon.

The delegates are to be cared for in the homes of members of the church.

NO DECISION IN FIREMEN'S SUIT

IRONTON, July 12.—The case of Jas. Erskine and others against the Sinking Fund Trustees and the city auditor, to enforce payment of a judgment secured in magistrate's court for salaries due as members of the city fire department came up for hearing in Common Pleas court Monday. Attorneys for the Sinking Fund Trustees submitted a demurrer which was argued and taken under advisement.

Attorney Disbarred

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 12.—One attorney was disbarred, three were suspended for varying periods, and the case against another was dismissed when four common pleas judges, who heard disbarment proceedings against five lawyers, handed down decision here today.

Nury Wilkins was disbarred, Shirley Galen and Harry Graham suspended for six months and Wallace Dunn was suspended for three months. The charges against Leo F. Wilcox were dismissed.

The disbarment proceedings grew out of an investigation of practice before justices of the peace in Mahoning county, undertaken by the Mahoning Bar Association after Justice James Quigley had been convicted of extortion and embezzlement. He is now serving a prison term. The judges found that Wilkins had conspired with Quigley.

Labor Unions Want Probe

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 12.—Declaring that County Prosecutor H. H. Hall ignored labor union demand for a grand jury investigation of conditions in the building trades here in connection with the strike now in progress, the United Labor Congress has instructed its officers to ask the United States department of justice to make an investigation. It was announced today by officers of the congress. Union leaders said they had affidavits showing that local firms had refused to supply materials to contractors employing union labor.

Mrs. Johnson was Miss Janet Darby, daughter of the famous Dr. George Darby and is born to $25,000,000.

IRISH CONFERENCE NOT TO BE CUT AND DRIED

LONDON, July 12.—The parliamentary correspondent of the London Times says the arrangements for the meeting of Premier Lloyd George and Eamon DeValera are not to be "cut and dried," adding that General Jan Christian Smuts, the South African premier, is not to be present at the opening of the conference, but that it is understood Mr. DeValera desires the overcast dominion represented, formally or informally, "this wish will meet with cordial acquiescence."

The correspondent states Premier Lloyd George is prepared to see the representatives of the Sinn Fein by himself, or have with him such other members of the government as may appear desirable in view of the development of the discussions. It is predicted that the early discussions will be on broad principles, with the later stage probably devoted to the settling up of committees to deal with particular subjects.

The plan of Thursday's interview according to the correspondent will be in the words of the premier, "to explore to the utmost the possibility of a settlement," the aim being first to discover whether the general lines of settlement can be marked out. News received at the Irish office and reported by the parliamentary correspondent indicates that the last Sinn Fein shot was fired at 11:55 a. m. today at Kings Court, County Dublin, where a revolver was aimed at a police patrol. No one was injured and the shot was not returned.

Masonic Dance Friday Night

Messrs. Earl Dixon, J. I. Marsh and Wm. Quinn, the committee in charge, announced today that another Masonic dance was to be given Friday night, July 15, at Baesman's academy. The summer dances the past few weeks have proved quite popular with the Masons. Dancing will take place from nine until twelve. Baesman's orchestra will furnish the music.

These, the first of the 1,900 similar buildings at the camp for which attempts for disposal are to be made represented an outlay of more than $500,000.

The sale will mark the first stage of demolition of the huge cantonment, and may be followed by complete disposal of the buildings. Washington dispatches indicate that but two camps—Dix, New Jersey and Lewis, Washington—may be retained in addition to the regular army posts.

Bidders will be required to tear down the structures, haul away the lumber and place the ground in the shape it was in before construction was started.

150 Camp Sherman Barracks To Come Down; Looks Like Camp Will Soon Be A Memory

COLUMBUS, O., July 12.—Work of selling Camp Sherman buildings at auction will be begun July 19. One hundred and fifty of the two-story barracks buildings will be offered July 19, 20 and 21 and sold to the highest bidder, the story said, according to information from Major Joseph D. McKeany, Camp Quartermaster.

These, the first of the 1,900 similar buildings at the camp for which attempts for disposal are to be made represented an outlay of more than $500,000.

More Houses Are Needed, Committee Finds

The Housing Survey Committee of the Chamber of Commerce met this morning and discussed the progress of their work. The committee has inspected many of the buildings in the West End of the city where the upper floors could be converted in flats and apartments. Thursday the committee will make a visit of the territory adjacent to the city to determine how many new houses have been erected the past year.

Although there are some empty houses in Portsmouth, that does not mean that houses are not needed. The kind of houses needed are those the working man may rent at a rent ranging from $15 to $25 per month.

Steel Company Makes Letter Public

The notice below, relative to Whitaker-Glessner employees working on a tonnage basis, was posted at the local plant of the Whitaker-Glessner Company this afternoon. The notice is in the form of a letter received at the local office of the Whitaker-Glessner Company from Alex Glass, chairman of the executive board of the Whitaker-Glessner Company.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 11, 1921.
To Employees Working on Tonnage Rates.
Because we received no satisfactory reply to our letter reading—
Wheeling, W. Va., May 31, 1921.
Mr. M. F. Tighe, President,

Amalgamated Association of I. S. & T. W. of N. A., House Building, Smithfield and Water Streets, Pittsburgh, Penna.
Dear Sir—

I have been advised that your Convention passed a resolution to the effect that the Wheeling Steel Corporation must be dealt with as a whole. If this is correct, it will be impossible for the Whitaker-Glessner Company to deal with your organization on that basis.

Will you, please, verify the above? If we do not hear from you by return mail, we will assume that the information is correct and that it will be unnecessary for us to attend the conference.

Yours very truly,
WHITAKER-GLESSNER CO.
(Signed) N. Price Whitaker, Vice-President.

We were not represented at the joint conference at Atlantic City and Columbus, therefore, hereafter we will deal only with our own men, but when we start we will pay the same scale of wages that is paid in Union Mills.

Yours very truly,
WHITAKER-GLESSNER COMPANY,
ALEX. GLASS,
Chairman of the Board.

CINCINNATI, O., July 12.—The Rev. Hermann Kemper, 78, oldest priest in point of service in the Cincinnati diocese, having served 55 years, is dead at St. Clare's convent, Hartwell, where he was chaplain. He served for 26 years as pastor of St. Philomena church, Cincinnati.

MODEL OF POWERFUL GUN IS USED TO "SHOOT" RIVETS INTO PLATES OF STEEL

Inventor Miller Reese Hutchinson driving rivets with model of the marvel gun.

That the working model of the new marvel gun, invented by Dr. Miller Reese Hutchinson and Hudson Maxim, has considerable of the terrific power of the gun itself is shown by the above demonstration. Dr. Hutchinson is "shooting" three-inch bolts of half inch diameter through steel plating. The gun model resembles the common compressed air riveter in many respects. The gun itself will shoot a five-ton projectile from 200 to 300 miles and travel from one to three miles.

Fire Destroys Haverhill Store

IRONTON, July 12.—The Holdbrook General Store, at Haverhill Station, located on the farm of Col. T. H. B. Jones of this city, was entirely destroyed last night by fire of unknown origin. The fire was discovered about 8:00 o'clock, but had gained such headway that efforts to check it were unavailing and the building and contents were a total loss.

Haverhill will insure you.

To Shoot Unmuzzled Dogs

IRONTON, July 12.—Chief of police Massie has received instructions from Dr. E. E. Wells, city health commissioner to have the police force shoot any dogs running at large on the streets without muzzles. This order is issued, the chief states, by reason of the fact that a number of dogs have been bitten by a dog, which is known to have been afflicted with rabies and there is a danger that an epidemic of rabies may arise.

Auto Victim Is Better

The condition of Carrie Lucas, eight year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lucas, 1539 Jackson street, who was hurt when struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Esther Hughes of 1016 Front street, is gradually improving, it was stated Tuesday.
The accident occurred last Friday at Fourth and Offshore streets, the child being knocked down and was injured by the rear wheel passing over her head, which was badly lacerated and the child may be disfigured.

To Serve Refreshments

The ladies of the South Portsmouth Christian church will serve ice cream and other refreshments in the church basement Thursday evening, July 14. A special invitation is extended to all.

To Attend Conference

The southwestern district conference of the American Legion will be held at Dayton on the Elks building July 17. Commanders and adjutants of the posts in the southwest districts are urged to attend. It is possible that Commander Dr. S. D. Rungles and Adjutant J. Paul Helzel of James H. Dickey post will attend the conference.

Magnolia Installs Officers

New officers were installed at Monday night's session of Magnolia lodge, Knights of Pythias. Monday night the new chancellor commander, George Brock; vice chancellor, Charles Keller; prelate, H. W. Elliott; master at arms, William Hartshorn; inner guard, George Kall; outer guard, George Curmille.

Harmony Installs Officers; Three Delegates Are Chosen

One of the most enthusiastic meetings of the year was held by Harmony lodge, Knights of Pythias, Monday night when new officers were installed by lodge deputy John H. Jackson. The new officers are: Henry Deering, chancellor commander; Atty. H. A. Taylor, vice-chancellor; Victor Pennan, master of ceremonies; James Melvin, master of finance; William Gooden, keeper of records and seals; Will White, prelate; Joseph Goins, sergeant-at-arms; Wm. Gooden, Wm. Curmille and John D. Jackson, delegates to grand lodge. Rev. Grant Metcalf, who had been in the office of prelate since the lodge was organized about thirty years ago, had been re-elected for another year but he resigned last night and William White was elected and installed in his place. For long and faithful service the lodge voted to confer the past chancellor's degree upon Rev. Metcalf as an appreciation of his work.

The lodge has grown so in the last year or two that instead of having only one delegate at the grand lodge meeting Harmony is now entitled to three delegates. William Gooden, William Curmille and J. H. Jackson will be the delegates to represent Harmony lodge at the state meeting in Canton July 26, 27, and 28. The applications of Irving White and Cliff Stader were received last night.

The building committee of the lodge have taken note of the drop in building material prices and hope to begin work on the new lodge home in the early spring.

GRANDEST IN WHOLE WORLD SHE DECLARES

Characteristic of the statements that have made Tanlae a household word throughout the continent is that of Mrs. Stella Wood, residing on N. Fountain St., R. F. D., Box 3, Marion, O., who relates her remarkable experience as follows:

"Tanlae has restored my health so wonderfully I think it's the grandest medicine in the world and simply can't praise it enough. In fact, I feel that it is my duty to let everybody I can know about the medicine so that they may take it too and get relief from their troubles like I did. Why, I had suffered for four or five years before I began taking Tanlae, and was certainly in a badly rundown condition. Everything I ate seemed to disagree with me, and my stomach kept me in misery most of the time. I bloated terribly with gas, had awful pains in my back and shoulders, and in fact, all over my body. I had such dreadful headaches I could hardly stand them, and was so nervous and restless a good night's sleep was almost out of the question. I was so weak and nervous it was all I could do to drag through my housework, and my husband as well as myself was very much worried over my condition.

"I will always remember the day I started taking Tanlae for that proved to be the turning point in my suffering, and five bottles of the medicine have made me well and happy again like I used to be before I ever got sick. I enjoy all my meals now, and eat good and hearty of anything I want without feeling a sign of stomach trouble or distress of any kind. I have gained several pounds in weight too, never have an ache or pain, and am altogether like a different woman. This is why I think so much of Tanlae."—Advertisement.

SAYS JURY WOULD NOT GIVE DAMAGES

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, would like the names and addresses of any jury that would give damages to a gambler refused admission to a baseball park, according to a letter received from the judge today by William H. McCarthy, president of the Pacific Coast League. The letter was in commendation of the work done by McCarthy in stamping out gambling in the coast league. "I never had the slightest doubt that the exclusion of these gentry might result in damage suits," Judge Landis wrote, "but it is one thing to bring the suit and quite another to establish the right to damages." Judge Landis intimated that no jury that would hold with a baseball gambler could be gotten together "outside of the penitentiary."

PORTSMOUTH OHIO

Writes Of Auto Trip To Washington, D. C.

Washington, D. C.
July 9, 1921.

The Times Publishing Co.,
Portsmouth, Ohio.

Gentlemen: I promised to write you upon my arrival here.

Well, we left Portsmouth Sunday, July 3, arriving here Wednesday, July 6, coming over the National Pike via Columbus, Wheeling and Cumberland, which is the most wonderful road I ever saw, smooth as the floor and hilly as can be. I can truly say we coasted one-third of the way from Cambridge, Ohio.

After leaving Cambridge, Ohio, we saw some beautiful scenery. The orchards (peach, cherry, apple, etc.) were miles long.

These roads, as I have said, are hilly. There are miles of road, up one hill and immediately down another and you cannot see one-third of a mile before you. The road also is very winding and it seems as if one is going in a circle. Again we would come to a place where we could see for miles the beautiful road, on each side of which were green grass and forests.

Then coming to the mountains. These are splendid beyond comparison. I camped at the foot of the Alleghenies and all night I was debating as to whether to attempt to cross it or come back home. But I finally picked up enough courage to go over it, which is 3 1/2 miles long. Our experiences a curious feeling coming over.

At the summit of every mountain one will find a small hotel with this sign out over the road, "Chicken Dinner."

We visited the home and drank from the well where General Braddock lived during the war. His house is 187 years old.

We then came to Frederick, Md., where lived Barbara Fritchie, who during the war, held the American flag after the Americans had retreated. Her home is now torn down, but there is a monument instead.

We arrived in camp about 6 p. m., pitching our tent in Potomac Park on the banks of the Potomac river. Everything is lovely here, being a place especially for tourists. This camp was used by the government during the war.

There is one thing you must get accustomed to and that is you will be visited by mosquitoes. They seem to go in droves. I think they must have gotten educated to this way of traveling from the U. S. soldiers.

Yesterday we visited Mr. Vernon and I'll say this is a great place. They say everything is carried on just the same as if Washington was there. We saw his tomb, his stage coach, Martha Washington's spinning room, drank from the well, etc.

On our way from Mt. Vernon we visited Alexandria, Va., and saw the fire department which was used in Washington's time, visited the church where he worshipped, and saw the old house that was used for the capitol.

I might say there is a tunnel extending from this house to the banks of the Potomac which they were to use to escape the enemy.

Today, Friday, we visited Arlington, Va., cemetery. They are now burying about 50 soldiers from France daily. They have just completed a million dollar amphitheatre in the cemetery which they will use for memorial services.

Well, if the mosquitoes would quit biting I would write some more, but as they are very persistent I will have to bring this to a close.

Your friend,
CHAS. L. WARREN.

Lad, Awakened On Boat, Falls Into Ohio River, Drowns

HUNTINGTON, July 12—Harry Lewis, 12 years old, of Scottown, O., was drowned in the Ohio river early yesterday morning when he walked off the Twenty-sixth street ferry, which was carrying the West Virginia side. His body was recovered several hours later by ferrymen. The lad had accompanied his stepfather, Dave Wagon, a huckster, aboard the ferry and was on his way to Huntington with a load of produce. He was asleep when they boarded the ferry and was not awakened by his stepfather until near this side of the river. He got out of the wagon and is believed to have stepped off the ferry before he was fully awake.

KNOCKED TO FLOOR BY BOLT

R. G. Morris, who was standing in the front hall of his home, 1661 Robinson avenue, Monday afternoon, about 2:30 o'clock, during the electrical and rain storm, was shocked and knocked to the floor when lightning struck a chimney of the house, badly damaging it. The place where Mr. Morris was standing was more than a room and a half away from the base of the chimney. His hip was bruised in his fall to the floor, and he was thoroughly shaken up, but he was much better today.

Besides knocking bricks off the chimney to the street, the chimney inside the house was damaged. Four holes were blown open

Auto Goes Over Bank; Occupants Injured

When the Ford automobile in which they were riding skidded and plunged over an embankment on the Scioto trail, just south of Lucasville, Monday afternoon, Mrs. Mose Martin, of 1409 Twelfth street, sustained serious injuries, while her companion, Mrs. Lela McManus, 1415 Twelfth street, who was driving, suffered only minor injuries.

In addition to a compound fracture of the right arm, Mrs. Martin sustained a deep cut on her right arm just below the shoulder which required more than a score of stitches to close, and multiple small cuts and bruises over her body as the result of being thrown from the machine when it turned over. Mrs. McManus suffered a cut on her arm and she was slightly hurt about the head.

The accident occurred during the heavy rain and electrical storm and although driving slowly Mrs. McManus lost control of the car and it went off the roadway, landing in an upright position at the foot of the embankment. The car was considerably damaged, the entire top being torn off and the windshield was smashed. Mrs. Martin was brought to her home where she received medical aid and Tuesday morning it was stated her condition was satisfactory.

CHARLES WINDEL, LOCAL SALESMAN DROPS DEAD IN MAYSVILLE HOTEL

Charles Windel, a well known salesman for the Gilbert Grocery Company of this city and one of Portsmouth's most highly esteemed citizens, dropped dead in the lobby of the Central Hotel in Maysville, Monday night.

He had just made out his daily report for his firm and had started for his room when he sank to the floor and died before a physician could be called. His death was attributed to heart trouble. Mr. Windel had been in his usual health and the news of his sudden passing away came as a shock to his legion of friends here.

He started out on his weekly trip yesterday in his usual good spirits. He had complained of the intense heat the past few weeks, but was not seriously affected and was able to look after his work in his usual careful and considerate manner.

Mr. Windel had traveled for the Gilbert Grocery Company for twenty years and was one of this firm's most valued employees. Prior to going with this firm he was a salesman for B. Augustin for many years and perhaps no salesman was better known in Southern Ohio than popular, congenial and wholesome Charles Windel. He had a friendly disposition and possessed the faculty of retaining these friendships. He was very successful, a dutiful husband and father and will be missed. Mr. Windel was honest as the day is long and his trade will miss his genial manner and smile almost as much as his family and close friends. To know Mr. Windel was to be his friend as he was a generous hearted and a substantial and progressive citizen.

The deceased was 58 years old on April 1 last. He was a son of the late Charles and Louise Windel. On July 21, 1887 he was married to Mrs. Annie Werner Windel and to their union one son, Carl, was born, who survives with the widow. Mr.

Windel also leaves two brothers, Albert, a well known local undertaker, and Henry, who is a farmer, and two sisters, Mrs. John Newman of Ninth street and Mrs. Lizzie Poppe of Cincinnati.

In a fraternal way Mr. Windel was affiliated with the U. C. T. lodge of this city, the A. I. U.'s and the Hays Club. He was a member of the First Evangelical church and was active in its affairs.

His body arrived here at noon from Maysville, where the final summons came so unexpectedly. It was moved to the family residence, 917 Gallia street.

Mr. Windel is the second salesman of the Gilbert Grocery Company to drop dead in the past few months, the other road man being the late Charles Lytel, who was found dead in his machine near Hedgesport, O.

Pen Probe Near Close

COLUMBUS, O., July 12—The inquiry into conditions at the Ohio penitentiary by the senatorial investigating committee may come to an end today, according to R. W. Walton, attorney for Warden Thomas, who said there were half a dozen witnesses to appear in the warden's behalf and that he expected to hear them all in one session.

The committee began its investigation June 13, taking a recess of more than a week over the Fourth of July holiday. The probe is being held up somewhat by attorneys having to ask nearly every witness the same question twice, and as the witness must answer, it takes time for the stenographers to record the answers.

When a person is debilitated from any cause and is then exposed to an advanced case of tuberculosis it is very easy to become infected with the disease. For that reason among others the law insists that no case of tuberculosis be allowed in county infirmaries. Not because of any deference to those affected but because of the danger of spreading the disease among other inmates. The step thus taken was the beginning of an intelligent effort in Ohio to reduce the death rate from tuberculosis in the state; an official approval of the belief in the contagiousness, if you please, of consumption.

Every open case of tuberculosis carried for in the Mt. Logan Sanatorium is one less focus of infection in the home and in the community from which it came. This institution is a monument to the intelligence of the officials and the district of which we are proud. It is an expression of our interest in preventive medicine. It is concrete evidence of our willingness to "spend and be spent" that our neighbors shall be spared the danger of infection. Consumption is a communicable disease; it can be prevented. It should be controlled. It is the earnest purpose to do our bit to the end that this chronic, debilitating, wasting disease shall be forever wiped out. Does it cost anything? Is it expensive? Yes, it costs money. It is expensive. I do not know what value to place on a human life; but if a life is worth going up stairs in yonder ward and ask that mother suffering in the last stages of consumption what she would be willing to give to regain her health. Ask her what it costs to give up her home, her children. Yes it costs money to operate the Mt. Logan Sanatorium; but if by spending money we can save mothers and fathers from a consumptive death, who shall begrudge the money?

Who will be willing to be responsible for consumption spreading and continuing to reap its usual harvest? Does the institution at Mt. Vernon cost anything? Is it expensive? Yes it costs. The great State of Ohio conceived this educational institution and purchased a large farm, erected buildings and hired help, nurses and physicians to cure consumption. We, at this institution, take out of the homes and communities cases in order to prevent con-

PRAISES WORK OF SANATORIUM

During the three-year period the Mt. Logan Sanatorium has been in operation 134 patients have been admitted to the institution, including 22 from Scioto county according to the annual report submitted to the Board of Trustees by G. E. Robbins, M. D., physician in charge.

The detailed report which is given in full below, strongly approves the work done at the institution. The sanatorium is situated near Chillicothe and is maintained by a district of counties including Scioto, Ross, Fayette, Highland, Jackson and Pike.

The report follows: To The Trustees, Mt. Logan Sanatorium, Chillicothe, Ohio.

The Mt. Logan Sanatorium was opened for patients July 5, 1918. Since that time 134 patients have been admitted to the institution. Patients admitted July, 1918 to July, 1921, as follows: Scioto 22, Ross 58, Fayette 18, Highland 18, Jackson 5, Pike 7. Thirty-two patients died as follows: Scioto 5, Ross 15, Fayette 4, Highland 4, Jackson 2, Pike 2. Patients readmitted 13. Outside patients were as follows: Athens 2, Pennsylvania 1, Cleveland 1, Fairfield 1, Pickaway 1. This institution was built, as you know, to relieve the county infirmaries in this district of all tuberculosis patients. As the law provides that no tuberculosis patient shall be kept in county infirmaries, the character of the cases committed to this institution was of necessity the indigent, the open advanced and usually the hopeless case. Such a class of cases must result, as a matter of course, in a very high death rate. In comparison with the Mt. Vernon Sanatorium our record looks bad. But when you remember that only incurable, supposedly curable, cases are received at the state institution you can readily see that there is no competition whatever. The death rate at Mt. Vernon is nothing for the reason that if a patient is hopeless it is at once sent home to die. In spite of the character of the cases admitted to our institution we are very proud of our showing. To date we have had 134 patients with a total number of deaths 32. You will not forget, I am sure, the purpose of this institution. Tuberculosis is a preventable disease. It is always acquired, never inherited. If it is acquired it must be transmitted from man to man or from animal to man. The usual and easy way of catching Consumption is by association with an open case; that is being exposed to the cough and expectoration of one who is suffering with the disease.

Suppose you say that your son's life at the age of 36 is worth $5000. 30 times $5000 equals $150,000. The period in which Consumption incapacitates one from earning a livelihood is at least one year. Add the loss of time to the expense of one year's sickness and you have at least $5000 which makes $20,000 a year the economic loss to Ross county for one year from a preventable disease. Consumption is one of the most curable of diseases, but it must be recognized early and the proper treatment instituted. The treatment does not consist of medicine or climate. There is no sure cure for Tuberculosis.

Some climates are more favorable in some particular lines and unfavorable in others. The best treatment known today is rest, fresh air and a contented mind is 95 percent of the cure. A homesick patient can hardly recover in any climate. Our hardest task in the Mt. Logan Sanatorium is to convince patients that they have a long and hard fight to make and if they will only make up their minds to stay on the job, backed by a determination to fight they are sure to win. This hospital is as well located for the treatment of Consumption as it is possible to be. Incurable cases will recover here if they will recover any place on earth. But, every case of Consumption, curable cases, where peace of mind must be maintained, can not do well when associated with advanced, dying cases. We can not encourage curable cases to enter this institution so long as there is no segregation of cases possible. Well to do patients will not enter this institution under such circumstances.

It is a most favored spot to regain lost, or impaired health. Situated high up above the mist and fogs, no dust, quiet, a wonderful panorama of scenery stretching in every direction, a fine milk supply and pure water there is nothing to be desired from a location standpoint. The results of treatment are as good as in any institution of its kind anywhere. Our death rate has been extremely low when the character of the cases admitted are studied. The educational work done here is equal to that of any kindred hospital. The number of advanced cases treated here has certainly taken away from their several communities possibilities of spreading the disease, that must be considered. I have not at hand the total number of deaths from Consumption in the counties in this district except Ross; but in this county last year, 1920, there were 39 deaths with an average age of 36.5 years. You can see by this statement that Consumption does here in this county, just what it does in every county, takes the persons in the prime of life when they should be most productive, when life is at its best, when a human life is supposed to be worth more than any other age.

Suppose you say that your son's life at the age of 36 is worth $5000. 30 times $5000 equals $150,000. The period in which Consumption incapacitates one from earning a livelihood is at least one year. Add the loss of time to the expense of one year's sickness and you have at least $5000 which makes $20,000 a year the economic loss to Ross county for one year from a preventable disease. SOCIETY

The Central W. C. T. U. held an interesting meeting last evening with Mrs. C. W. Howe of Seventh street, the affair being also in celebration of her birthday anniversary, which was enjoyed by thirteen members and three guests. Mrs. Rose Baker assisted in the hospitalities. There will be no August meeting, and the next meeting will be held the first Thursday in September at the home of Mrs. R. W. Hopkins on Fifth street.

Mrs. Rena Selby and baby son of Summerville are visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hutchins at Altoona, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Landon C. Wood (Mildred Thomas) are here from Havana, Cuba, for a visit with Mrs. Wood's mother, Mrs. Margaret Thomas of Logan street.

Miss Marcella Hardin of Fifth street is visiting with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Goddard of Wellston.

Miss Edna Jacobs of Twelfth street is at Oxford visiting with Misses Helen Chick and Freda Hanger at Miami University.

Little Virginia Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Hunter, is ill at her home on Chillicothe street.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Radtch of Fifth street are home from a pleasant weekend visit with Mr. and Mrs. Watson Goddard at their camp at Rushdown.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dunn moved Monday from Sixth street to their home recently purchased at 615 Moulton Place.

Mrs. A. K. Wheeler of Eighteenth street is recovering from a two weeks' severe illness.

Railway Clerks In Session

CINCINNATI, July 12—Questions of organization finances are occupying the major portion of the attention of the board of directors of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks that went into session at the International headquarters here yesterday.

Grand Vice President James B. Hogshend, Atlanta, Ga., who was at headquarters to report on the status of the strike on the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic railroad, said members of all brotherhoods were still out. Mr. Hogshend is also looking after matters concerning the recently organized Southeastern Express Company.

Ohio Jewelers In Session

CEDAR POINT, O., July 12—More than 400 delegates, representing every section of Ohio, were in attendance at the opening session of the nineteenth annual convention of the Ohio Retail Jewelers' Association, which opened here this morning with an address by President F. X. Bunsen of Cleveland.

Secretary E. R. Abramson, of Cleveland, will submit his annual report at this afternoon's session.

The convention will continue throughout the week.

THE MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS
NEW YORK, July 12.—Foreign oils were strong at the opening of today's stock market in response to President Harding's disapproval of the proposed import taxes on raw and refined petroleum of that character. Mexican and Pan-American Petroleum scores early gains of 3 and 2 points, respectively.
General Asphalt rose 2 1/4 and Atlantic
Gulf advanced 1 1/2. Baldwin
Harvester, Studabaker, Endicott-Johnson and Famous Players also strengthened substantially with leading and Northern Pacific. The only laggard was Sears-Roebuck, which fell half a point.
Mexican Petroleum increased its gain to 4 1/2 points and Royal Dutch and Sinclair were added to the other strong and active oils. Equipment

President Addressing Congress

FOR the second time during the current session, President Harding delivered in person today an address to the legislative branch of the government in which he outlined to the senate his views on soldier bonus legislation. The first occasion was when the executive read his message to a joint meeting of the two houses upon the convening of the special session.

Funeral Monday
Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Huffman of Circleville have returned home. They were called here by the death of their nine months old granddaughter, Raberta Huffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Huffman, of 1410 McConnell avenue, who died Saturday afternoon. Funeral services were held Monday, with burial in Greenlawn.

John W. Givens
Word was received here today of the death last night of John W.
Givens, of Salina, Kansas. He was the eldest son of the late Allen P. Givens of Nile township. He was 78 years of age at the time of his death, which was the result of a general breakdown, he having been in poor health for some time. Mr. Givens had resided in Kansas for the past 45 years, and for thirty years was in the Postal service on the Union Pacific railroad. Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Williamson, of Dey Run, this county, and Mrs.
Rachel Orent, of Charleston, W.
Va.; three daughters and a son in Kansas, and one daughter, Mrs. Ewing
McMaster, of Duane Vista. He also leaves a host of sincere friends in his Kansas home community, and will be remembered by his old friends in Scioto county for his kind, cheerful disposition which endeared him to all.

THE MOVIES

"What Women Will Do"

Two More Nights—Tonight and Tomorrow, the Eastland Theatre will offer Anna Q. Nilsson in "What Women Will Do," a story of Women for Women and Men. Extra added feature, Mack Sennett's Newest Comedy Special "Made in the Kitchen," with Ben Turpin.

PROGRAM

A—Mack Sennett's "Made in the Kitchen."

B—The Eastland Weekly News.

C—Anna Q. Nilsson in "What Women Will Do."

What will women do?

Ask any woman—every woman. Then ask the Sphinx. You'll get the same answer.

She is as much of a riddle to herself as she is a mystery to others.

She may decide, trick, steal or sink to the depths, where she is an outcast, yet beneath it all there remains that tenderness, unselfishness, and that holy something that belongs to woman.

Of such a woman is this Edward Joe Production. Portrayed by Anna Q. Nilsson, this beautiful girl becomes a vivid figure amid the life, gaiety and pitfalls of New York.

Watch her fall! Watch her rise! Watch the subtle change of her heart. It's a marvel of regeneration.

Those who are those who love, those who think they know woman, will talk about this drama! Why not? It has a thrill, a soul, a thrill, and a thought blended into real entertainment.

A special added feature on the program will be Mack Sennett's newest comedy made for Associated Producers, "Made in the Kitchen," starring Louise Fazenda, Charlie Murray, Ben Turpin and a big cast.

MARTIN VS. MORAN TONIGHT

NEW YORK, July 12—Frank Moran, the veteran Pittsburgh heavyweight, and Bob Martin, winner of the championship of the A. E. F., are opponents in a 12 round contest tonight. Moran recently knocked out

Joe Beckett, the English heavyweight. Martin went fifteen rounds with Bill Brennan, of Chicago, last winter. Other contests will bring together Jack Zivic, of Pittsburgh, and Willie Morris, of New York; Benny Valgar and Joe Benjamin, New York lightweights; Charley Tedoux, French bantamweight, and Joe Burman, of Chicago, and Sadler Freedman, Chicago lightweight, and Pete Hardley, of New York.

Tell It To One Jack Dempsey

NEW YORK, July 12—A Washington policeman was in New York today seriously considering his chances of winning the world's heavyweight boxing championship from Jack Dempsey. He is Henry Darnelle, 21 years old, the undefeated heavyweight champion of the United States navy destroyer fleet during the war, but otherwise unknown in boxing circles.

Darnelle was pronounced by physicians to be in perfect condition physically and his followers believe that his build, which is very similar to the present champion's together with his natural, although undeveloped fighting ability, have placed him among those who can properly aspire to defeat Dempsey. The Washington policeman was local agent on the Fourth of July when he quelled a disturbance in Capital Heights. With his fists he knocked down every man in a mob that rushed at him, and Washington newspapers numbered the casualties at about one hundred.

Reds Again Are Blanked

BOSTON, July 12—Boston cleaned up the three game series with Cincinnati by winning Monday, 2 to 0. With two out in the eighth, Ford doubled and took third when Rixey threw wild to second. Gowdy walked and stole second. McQuillan's triple scored Ford and Gowdy.

DANGER IN GOLDEN TIDE

BOAST was made, last week, that there was a heavy flow of European gold to American shores.

The amount was nothing abnormal and considering the half year settlements it scarce kept up the average of the past few years.

Under ordinary circumstances a movement of the precious metal to our shores would mean increasing prosperity, because it would show that in healthy world commerce the balance was in our favor. That, however, is not the indication now. Europe is being bled white because of the enormous debts she has accumulated and a terrible decrease in her productivity. Every ounce of gold she ships out means that basic security of her currency is shrinking the value of that currency, placing increased strain upon the solidarity of her finances. She can not lose all of her gold to America, nor even the safe portion thereof, without bankruptcy.

She can not go on everlastingly buying raw and essential products from us, unless we buy something from her in exchange. We must purchase luxuries and things that she can manufacture better than us to the extent that will make a healthy ebb and flow. This does not mean that an exact balance shall be maintained, only that neither way shall it run to violent extreme. We are entitled to fair profits on our advantages, but no more. Commerce no more than anyone else can kill the goose that lays the golden egg.

THE HIGHEST SERVICE

THE world is plunged in confusion and its days are written heavy with disorder and crime. The story of extortion and robbery, born of selfishness, is one of constant and continuous repetition, but the best in man, that which elevates him above the brute, has not perished from the earth, it still flames in the heart.

Every day there are countless acts of kindness, deeds of nobility performed. Unfortunately these do receive the exploitation and the accent of crime and violence.

Take that heroic tragedy that occurred on Lake Erie, the other day. Two lads were attempting to swim from the mainland to an island. When well along they gave out and set up frantic cries for help. Two men heard them and without hesitation went to their rescue. They succeeded in putting the boys on logs, from which they were later rescued, but utterly exhausted by their supreme efforts the two rescuers immediately sank to death themselves.

Greater love can no man have than he that giveth his life for his friend. Here the men did not know so much as who was imperiled. All they knew was two lads were in peril and without question they hastened to their aid. Every thought of self was submerged. Their ears were attuned only to the call of distress and it was not their's to count the cost of response.

Brave men and true, but, indeed, their kind still live and because they knew how to die others, hearing of them, will learn how to live.

THE OMISSION OF A WORD

IN a dissertation on diet we read this declaration: "Almost every brain worker, whether student, or professor, doctor, preacher or business man, knows the refreshing tonic of a steaming bowl of bread and milk."

The sentence could be made to conform nearer with the truth and would be more impressive, if it should know but were substituted for know. Comparatively few either appreciate or realize the refreshing strength there is in milk toast, fewer still ever avail themselves of its properties.

Even the old fashioned dish of a bowl of cold milk and bread is one of the strongest restoratives after a period of either physical or mental strain. It is absolutely the best because it is rather soothing to the digestive organs, instead of a strain on them. It is especially desirable in excessively warm weather and it is a safe estimate that quantities of milk were substituted for coffee, fresh meats and some of the heavier vegetables there would be neither half as much suffering, more complaint, from heat as there is.

Once in awhile there is a person with whom milk does not agree, but that person is abnormal, since milk is the one natural food for man. Sometimes this disagreement is a mere matter of fancy in the taste. In such instance relish can be acquired by practice. There never was a human being that had a first taste for olives, many have none for bananas. One has no food value whatsoever, the other would scarce be characterized as wholesome; yet both are of enormous consumption, principally through acquired taste. A comparison between them and milk and bread shows the natural propensity of man to run to that which least profits him.

For what there was of it the week-end rain was a mighty good thing.

They've agreed on a temporary peace in Ireland and high hopes are aroused that the contending factions will, in their approaching conference, come to an agreement that will bring peace and right to the long distressed island. That, at least, is the wish of every sincere heart.

The road, from the paving on Galena pike to Rushtown, has been closed against traffic. That is, probably, the best thing that can be done. Maintaining detours, with the natural difficulties presented and a long experience with the contractor, appears impossible. So forcing traffic by way of Lucasville, at least, leaves no alternative and means easier reconciliation with the situation.

Ventilation.

If for any reason sufficient ventilation by means of windows and doors is impossible, a pitcher or pail of cold water placed on a table in the center of the room will absorb many of the impurities. This is sometimes useful in the sick room. The water should be allowed to stand not more than an hour.

An Object Lesson.

"My dear," said Mr. Gadder as he and Mrs. Gadder howled along in their new sport car on which 11 monthly payments are still due, "do you see that gloomy brick structure over there on a hill?" "Why, yes. What about it?" "Take a good, long look at it, my dear. That's the poorhouse."—The Utica Age-Herald.

Increase In Postal Rates

By Frederic J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 4.—The newspaper and periodicals of the United States lost a long drawn out and important fight of many years' standing during the latter part of June, when the House Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads tabled the Longworth bill which would have nullified the second class postal increases which went into effect on July first.

Albert S. Darlow, Postmaster General, fought long and ardently to put this measure on the statute books, and won out with the help of the then Democratic majorities in both Houses of Congress.

The increase in second class postal rates, which affects all newspapers and periodicals is the fourth of a succession of annual increases. The first occurred on July 1, 1918.

Prior to that date, the postal rate for second class matter was uniform for newspapers and periodicals, no matter what distance it was sent to the subscriber. The recent Postmaster General and those who sided with him attacked this system as a "subsidy" granted by the government, and contended that in the transportation of this second class mail the Post Office Department actually lost a considerable sum of money.

The answer made to this argument was that an increase of postal rates on this kind of mail matter was putting a heavy tax on the dissemination of information. The magazines of national circulation were particularly bitter against the increases. A zoning system went into effect at the time, which made it necessary to put much more postage on a periodical sent, let us say, from a New York office of publication to a subscriber on the Pacific coast, than on a similar periodical sent to a subscriber in Newark, N. J.

The Zoning System

The system now in effect provides fifteen zones. The first zone includes territory of fifty miles in all directions. The second zone embraces an additional hundred miles, the third zone a hundred and fifty miles more, the fourth zone an additional three hundred miles. Zone five takes in territory four hundred miles beyond the limits of zone four; zone six adds another four hundred miles, as does zone seven; and zone eight includes all territory beyond the limits of the seventh zone.

A difference was made between pure reading matter and advertising matter, but this is of little benefit, as practically every newspaper and periodical today is made up of a mixture of both. When the first increase went into effect the rates per pound of mail became 1-1/4 cents for the first and second zone, 1-1/2 cents for the third zone, 2 cents for the fourth zone, 2-1/4 for the fifth zone, 2-1/2 for the sixth zone, 3 cents for the seventh zone, and 3-1/4 cents for the eighth zone.

The following year these rates were increased again, varying from 1-1/2 cents a pound in the first and second zones to 5-1/2 cents a pound in the eighth zone.

The rates which have just gone into effect are, for each pound of second class mail, as follows:

First and second zones, 2 cents; third zone, 3 cents; fourth zone, five cents; fifth zone, 6 cents; sixth zone, 7 cents; seventh zone, 9 cents; eighth zone, 10 cents.

The newspapers and periodicals have been making a last ditch fight to prevent the last increase going into effect until the new Postmaster General had time to investigate, through a commission appointed for that purpose, the justice of the second class rates, and whether it was necessary to have them so high for the sake of postal revenue. Despite the fact that Congress had been petitioned from all over the country to this effect, and despite the strong recommendation of the Post Office Department, the Longworth bill, which had this for its object, has died in committee.

The Subscriber Will Pay

Except for the most prosperous newspapers and periodicals, it is highly probable that subscription prices will have to be boosted to cover this additional burden. It was just this point on which the main fight against the increases has been based from the first. The ultimate sufferer from the increases is bound to be the mail subscriber to newspapers and periodicals. It means education and the knowledge of current news the recipient of another tax.

Mr. Longworth and officials of the Post Office Department are utterly at a loss to understand the action of the Post Offices and Post Roads Committee of the House. As the end sought by publishers of newspapers and periodicals was merely a postponement of putting the fourth increase into effect so that an impartial investigation into the necessity and justice of the increase might be made, the committee's action has caused no little chagrin and disappointment.

Not even the author of the bill to postpone this last boost in mail rates was able to find out exactly how the committee voted on his bill. It is Mr. Longworth's understanding, however, that a considerable majority of the committee voted to table his measure. Under the existing rules of the House, it is now impossible to get the bill before the House for its consideration except by going to the Rules Committee and, by overriding the committee which killed the bill, order it reported to the House.

Will Continue the Fight

Even if this course were pursued, with so many of the committee members actively opposing the measure, it is extremely doubtful if favorable action be procured from the membership of the House. Proponents of the Longworth bill and the Post Office Department itself have suffered a defeat through the action of the committee. There may be many extraneous reasons affecting the action of the committee. It is realized, and the whole matter undoubtedly will be revived through the introduction of a new bill at the most propitious time.

It is whispered around the corridors of the Capitol that the existing feeling between some Members of Congress and the executive departments of the government may have had something to do with turning down the Longworth measure. Postmaster General Hays stood ready to order a thorough investigation into the whole matter of second class rates embracing every angle of it.

It has been suggested in some congressional quarters that the very fact that the Post Office Department recommended favorable committee action and adoption by Congress of the Longworth bill may have had something to do with the killing of the measure.

There is a feeling on the part of many Members of Congress that the executive departments of the Government having failed to act as specifically as they might in opposing Democrats and installing Republicans, this feeling is becoming evident in many ways, and may have had some influence on the fate of Longworth's intruded legislation.

Hat Once Used as Symbol

The earliest hat was a symbol—away back 6,000 years ago, when the Egyptians invented it, to show the rank of men. And then, along the Tigris and Euphrates hats appeared as helmets of fighting men. The archaic picture of Naram-Sin, ruler of Agade, shows him in a helmet with curved horns. Cloth and fur came first—hats modeled after the old tiger skin idea—and then, legend runs, St. Clement invented the mode of felting rabbits fur. Cloth hoods and mailed caps, also developed through armor. The more general use of hats seems to have originated in England with the Norman conquest, 1066 A. D., and in the Thirteenth century hats with brims appeared. In 1254 Pope Innocent IV authorized the wearing of hats by cardinals. Medieval plumed hats appeared about this time.

How It All Happened
By James J. Montague
From The New York World
Ere Solomon ruled in his glory.
He went to the movies one day
And there was outcried by the story
Of a comical bigamy play.
The movie his fancy affected
And we know—for the legend survives—
That when he grew up he collected
Some sixty or seventy wives.

When Cussus was nineteen or twenty,
A terrible movie he saw,
Where stabbings and cuttings were plenty
And no one paid heed to the law.
He watched it with eager emotion,
And now to the world it is clear
That there's where he picked up the notion
That ended J. Caesar's career.

Guy Fawkes went to cinemas daily,
And deep in his memory sank
A scene where two criminals gayly
Put dynamite under a bank.
And later, when thinking of treason,
He read the impression he got
That, gentle friends, is the reason
He hatched up the Gunpowder Plot.

Cap Kidd was caught up by the glamour,
And took to be utterly true
The things that the photoplay drummer
Makes pirates and buccancers do.
The movies became his obsession,
And craving for power and pelf,
When he grew to the years of discretion,
Young Kidd was a pirate himself.

Never Again!

The baseball fan takes his small daughter to see her first (and last) game.

"That man in the blue suit is the umpire."
"Daddy, I want an almond bar."
"That bell means that the game is going to start."

"What is that man with the white coat and hat got in his basket?"
"Watch that man with the bat. He's trying to hit the ball."
"What does it say on those flags over there?"

"Where the man stands is called the home-plate."
"Daddy, that fat man bought some popcorn! Why don't you buy some, daddy?"

"Watch the ball, see it go."
"Daddy, why don't you buy some popcorn?"

Not a Congregation, A Crowd
Little Susy was taken to church by her mother for the first time. During the long sermon the child grew more and more fidgety, and kept wriggling about. Finally she became very greatly interested in a small tear in her dress and, after looking at this absently for a little while, she jumped to her feet on the seat and, to the great mortification of her mother, cried out:

"Has anybody in this crowd got a pin?"

"You're another," answered Dunnivant. "Rosenbloom's my name and that's the name I'm going to vote by."

All might have gone well had not McCarthy, called from the rear of the line: "That's the boy, Dunnivant. Don't let 'im bluff ye."

The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. How long has the motto "In God We Trust" appeared on our coins?—L. E. H.

A. United States coins prior to the year 1864 are without "In God We Trust." The two cent piece was the first coin to bear this motto.

Q. How can jet beads be cleaned?—H. W.

A. Remove all dust with a very soft brush, touch the jet with a bit of cotton moistened with a little good oil, then polish with wash leather. Clean with great care as jet is often brittle.

Q. Where can interest coupons on Liberty Bonds be cashed?—E. T.

A. These coupons may be cashed at a post-office or at any bank.

Q. What is the variation of temperature on the Isle of Pines?—J. D.

A. The Isle of Pines has one continuous summer, the variations of temperature throughout the entire year being scarcely as great as often occur in single summer months in many of the northern states. It is here, indeed, when the thermometer in summer on the island registers as high as 90 degrees, and in winter the mercury falls below 50 degrees.

Q. Will you please tell me the significance of the third beam, slanting, often seen on the spire of Russian churches?—A. H. M.

A. The third beam represented as oblique on Greek and Russian crosses is so placed because of a legend that one foot of Jesus when suffering, was drawn higher than the other. The beam is called a "supplementum"—a projection or support under the feet of a person crucified. It is used with especial reference to Christ or to a crucifix.

Q. Is Wang one of the Gilbert and Sullivan operas?—J. E. T.

A. This opera is often mistakenly attributed to Gilbert and Sullivan, but it was written by Theodore Morse. Q. Do rattlesnakes shed their skins more than once a year?—Does each rattle signify one year which the snake has lived?—R. W.

A. Well fed rattlesnakes may shed their skins three or four times a year, and as the rings sooner or later become detached, it is evident that the popular belief that the number of joints in the rattlesnake indicates the years of the snake's age, is unfounded.

Q. What was the first vessel in the British Navy?—H. F.

A. The first war vessel of the British Navy was the Great Harry, a three masted vessel built in 1569 at a cost of $72,414. The first double decker to be built in England.

Q. Kindly give me a formula for sulphur baths?—J. T.

A. Sulphur Bath: To prepare, dissolve potassa sulphurata (sulphurated potash), known as liver of sulphur, in small quantity of hot water, and add this to the bath water. From one to two ounces of sulphur are usually used for a bath, and the temperature of the bath is generally between 85 degrees and 95 degrees F. Method of giving baths: The patient lies quietly in the bath for from 10 to 20 minutes. Afterward he is enveloped in a warm sheet and dried by putting gently over the sheet a heavy rubber, for, as these baths are given largely for soothing effect upon the irritated skin, rubbing will do away with the benefit of the bath.

Q. I have an old stove in which the wick holders have become so charred with carbon that the wicks will not turn up. What will remove it?—C. P. L.

A. The Bureau of Standards says there is no solvent for carbon. Unless the carbon in your wick holders can be removed mechanically, it will be necessary to purchase new holders.

Q. Who is the American Commissioner in Vienna?—J. F.

A. This position is held by Arthur Hugh Frazier.

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 11.—Greenwich Village now has the laugh of those who scoff at theatrical comedians munching on crusts of bread—starving for Art's sake. A plump faced garret artist, his eyes fever bright from hunger, won the Prix de Rome on the day of his eviction from a Village garret for non-payment of $12 a month rent.

Truth valloped fiction indeed! The hero—Frank Schwarz, son of a Delawarean, went to Europe to Europe money waiter. He goes now for three years to study with all expenses paid. For many weeks he had been one of the long-haired, sudored artists who made the rounds of the cafes of the Quarter, sketching with quick dashes of charcoal the faces of gaping tourists for such price as they would pay.

At Bertinotti's one night he fainted from hunger. His Tim, who calls soul early from a lavender tray, found him in a hallway. Tim wears a velvet coat and black "tump," just like the struggling artist does in the play, but he is rich and he bought the artist a full meal. All Greenwich Village now choruses: "I knew him when he was poor."

Tenny sketchers have taken a new lease on life. The Village is now flooded with them. Any night they are expending a Lady Bountiful to appear among them and wave a magic wand—transforming cobweb lives into lives of fine spun gold.

Souia, the cigarette girl, a duxon, dark eyed Jewess declares that the case of young Schwarz is nothing unusual. It merely symbolizes the Village heroism. "I know any number of men and women down here," she declares, "who are starving as they express their genius."

Greenwich Village is ever ready to herald its poverty. The rich artist is called a "magazine dander." The Village really believes that art thrives in squalor. A little past-prosper from Russia who models in clay said to me in broken English in speaking of the Schwarz case: "One cannot dream the big dreams in luxury. Poverty spurs the creative forces. An empty belly is a lash for true genius." And he may be right. Who knows?

A little haberdashery shop is to pay rent at the rate of $37 a square foot in the Astor Hotel. The annual rent will be $40,000 a year. The store is no bigger than a fair sized room. Only chairs and needles will be sold and four clerks employed. Of course it is the location that brings such a high rental. The same amount of space block west could be rented for $1,000 a year.

A weeping youngster in short trousers excited sympathy of ferry passengers enroute to the Dempsey-Carpende fight. He explained that he was just turning 50 cents to have enough to buy a ticket. When an officer arrested him for begging he had collected $26 in three hours. Incidentally Eddie Cantor, who had to occupy one of the 85 seats, told a friend that he sat in the second row in Newark.

Fiction writers are discouraged about the outlook for their wars for the next year. Several New York magazines have hinted that they were well supplied with articles and stories. And on top of this the tendency is downward in prices paid the author. One well known magazine, noted for its articles, suddenly appeared with its last issue in active fiction form. The announcement was made that the magazine so thoroughly covered the article field that the magazine saw no reason to run articles. The movie rights for authors have also slumped. The movie producers are at a standstill and it will be many months before they begin casting about for new scenario material. But in the meantime as some philosophic author remarked: "There is also green grass for grazing in Central Park and there is always room for one more on the park benches."

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

Two Kinds of Laws.

"We have too many laws to stop things and too few to start things," says the lieutenant governor of Illinois. He may be right about that. Law is rule of conduct prescribed by competent authority, and one may readily be led to believe that its best function might be to direct things to be done rather than to prohibit things from being done.

Just man is a perverse creature. Prone to evil as the sparks to fly upward, naturally totally depraved, many people hold, and so laws to hold him in check must necessarily be largely devoted to explicit condemnation of many of his wicked tendencies.

The first code having universal authority, came from the Lord through Moses in cloud, darkness, from the heights of Mount Sinai, and of those Ten Commandments seven condemned specific acts and three commended particular courses of action. So in the very beginning, under divine authority, we had the same conflict as to laws of which the Illinois official now complains.

The three duties the Lord enjoined upon his people were to remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy; to labor six days and do all their work; and to honor their parents. The "shall nots" were thundered against idolatry, the taking of the name of the Lord in vain, murder, adultery, theft, perjury and covetousness.

But for all that, the Illinois lieutenant governor may be more than half right, although the average man prefers to be forbidden to do certain things than to be ordered to do certain other things.

Uncle Sam As a Banker

The proposal of the Postmaster-General that the Government take over the savings-deposit business of the country by making 50,000 post-offices to all intents and purposes savings banks, is viewed by country banks and building and loan associations of the country over as an intrusion of "government in business" directly contrary to the Administration's pledge of "more business in government and less government in business."

Mr. Hays proposes an increase of interest from 2 to 3 per cent, the payment of interest on deposits held less than a year, provisions for point and trust funds, and the increase of the number of banking postoffices from 6,300 to 50,000. With an interest rate of 3 per cent, and the acceptance of trust funds in the rural postoffices the country banks would see the end of their savings and trust accounts even if they paid 3-1/2 or 4 per cent on them, because of the Government's absolute security, and would be restricted largely to checking accounts.

Possibly the impulse to saving and thrift among the people would be increased, but the business of the little banks now established in nearly every village would be decreased to a point where the majority of them would cease to be profitable. The proposal is, therefore, that the Government shall invade an important branch of private business that is efficiently and economically managed.

A Palpable Hint

The greatest master of modern legal principles, Blackstone, whose writings are the foundation of every education in law among English speaking peoples, said:

"Personal liberty consists in the power of locomotion, of changing situation, of removing one's person to whatever place one's own inclination may direct without restraint unless by due course of law."

An eastern writer with a well balanced sense of humor, commenting on the "great" west personal liberty parade in New York July 4, which was participated in by about 15,000 persons instead of the 200,000 expected, remarks that prohibition "has restored rather than restricted" that power of locomotion and of changing one's situation, which is the essence of personal liberty. Every old souse who has laid out in the rain will see the point.

"The saloon laws are enforced in England and not violated, as they were in this country," says a Philadelphia editor lately in London. If American liquor laws had been observed by saloon keepers the bars would still be doing business here.

Some men swear habitually; others only when it counts "heavily in achievement."

Twenty-four Years Ago

The Vickers faction of the board of education played horse with the other boards at the regular meeting of the board and for the time being seemed to be in the saddle. They succeeded in getting a motion through ordering Prof. Vickers to open the schools. This coup was made possible by the absence of one of the anti-Vickers members.

Dr. Will Day of Harrisonville was painfully injured when his buggy upset on a hill while he was returning home from calling on a patient late at night.

George Schmidt was elected by delegate to the German United Brethren church convention held at Free-lance, Ind.

L. H. Brown, a merchant of Sedan, was in town on business and Nick Gregory, cutter for Sanford, Varner & Company, left for a
